5 The 10 Most Hellish Hills for America's Cyclists

<http://www.theatlanticcities.com/commute/2014/02/10-truly-hellish-hills-american-cyclists/8511/>

John Metcalfe <http://www.theatlanticcities.com/authors/john-metcalfe/> Feb 27, 2014 Any cyclists out there want to take on what Lance Armstrong has deemed <http://www.bigislandvideonews.com/2011/01/10/video-lance-armstrong-conquers-waipio-valley-road-for-charity/> the "steepest climb I've ever seen on a bike"?

Then buy a ticket to for Hawaii and pedal to Waipio Valley Road, a short but tortuous climb of 800 feet in six-tenths of a mile. With sections slanted at a 45-degree percent grade <http://www.hawaiihighways.com/photos-Waipio-Valley.htm>, and access given only to cars with 4-wheel drive, just looking at the muscle-shredding lane can make rivers of sweat start to flow. As Armstrong said: "You know it's steep when the people walking down are walking backward."

This fearsome cliff road gets top billing on "Top 10 U.S. Steepest Streets," a ranking of terrible hills for cyclists created by Fixr <http://www.fixr.com/> and recently featured at Urban Velo <http://urbanvelo.org/top-10-steepest-streets-in-the-us/>. The run-down contains some challenging claims for folks who think America's worst hills are located in San Francisco or perhaps the Rockies. The second-slantiest street, for instance, is said to be Canton Avenue in Pittsburgh. It is the "steepest public street in the United States," writes Fixr, "only second steepest in the Guinness Book of Records because of a mistake in calculations (1st is Baldwin St. New Zealand, thought to have been 38% but is actually 35%)."

The next four steepest streets in this ranking are all in Los Angeles. There's Eldred Street, a hill so perilous that locals "have been known to rescue unsuspecting motorists from the top of their street by volunteering to drive stranded, panic-stricken strangers' cars down for them." And on the circa-1800s Baxter Street, drivers are said to "gasp when they reach the crest and discover the roadway in front of them has dropped out of sight and there is nothing but empty space in front of their car's hood."

The Bay Area and Spring Valley also make the list, though San Francisco makes a poor showing at ninth and tenth places. That must seem insane to anybody who's humped around the famously hilly <http://www.theatlanticcities.com/neighborhoods/2013/08/san-francisco-has-needed-long-time-hill-mapper/6431/> city. And indeed, one commenter has taken issue with this low placement, writing that the "real steepest streets of San Francisco are upwards of 40% gradient." As evidence for that, there's this investigation <http://www.datapointed.net/2010/02/more-steeps-of-san-francisco/> by Data Pointed's Stephen von Worley challenging the city's official list of steepest streets. Through dogged legwork, Worley found a hill on North Beach's Romolo Place <https://maps.google.com/maps?q=Romolo+Place,+San+Francisco,+CA&hl=en&ll=37.798654,-122.406433&spn=0.001751,0.001963&sll=37.758475,-122.235328&sspn=0.448404,0.502625&oq=romolo&hnear=Romolo+Pl,+San+Francisco,+California+94133&t=h&z=19> with a 40 percent grade, and promptly rechristened it the "Super Steep Street Most Likely To Inflict Coffee Crotch On Early Morning Delivery Truck Drivers."

So, anybody want to go on a ride tomorrow?

Councilmember Huizar Announces York Boulevard Resurfacing Project

Thursday, March 27th - Sunday, March 30th

York Blvd. between Figueroa St. and South Pasadena City Limit

York Boulevard between Figueroa Street and the South Pasadena City Limit (over the bridge) will be resurfaced next week! The Bureau of Street Services (BSS) will begin the project on Thursday, March 27th and, barring weather delays, complete the project by Sunday, March 30th.

Over these days, residents can expect the following impacts:

Fewer lanes during the first two days while BSS profiles the street

Block by block full street closures while BSS is resurfacing on 3/29

No parking during posted hours

Detours

Some noise during working hours

In addition to resurfacing, the project will install new bike lanes, connecting bike lanes on San Pascual Avenue, Avenue 66, York Boulevard, and Pasadena Avenue (in South Pasadena). Existing westbound auto lanes will remain. The existing eastbound auto lanes will remain from Figueroa to Ave. 64. From Ave. 64 to the South Pasadena City Limit, one eastbound lane will be removed.

It will also re-stripe the crosswalks in the high-visibility continental crosswalk style.

All together, this project will create a safer roadway for cars, bikes, and pedestrians. Thank you for your understanding and patience during this project. Persons with mobility impediments and their caregivers can request assistance if the scheduled street work limits their use (including ingress or egress) of the public right of way. If you have questions or need to request an accommodation, contact the supervisor on the project site or call (213) 485-5561. TTD users, please use 711.

Hello again! Hope you had a great week – aside from the surprise earthquake on Monday ... Speaking of, this week I'll tell you how to #GetPrepared! You'll also get an update on Evergreen Cemetery. The Wellness Festival was a huge success – did you make it? Don't miss out on next Saturday's job fair at Dodger Stadium! Finally, we'll take a look back at the Library Rescue.

Enjoy the newsletter, and enjoy your weekend!

#GetPrepared – Emergency Prep 101

Monday's earthquake was a wake-up call (literally). Every month my office helps organize Community Emergency Response Teams (CERT) in First District neighborhoods. So far, we've held CERT workshops in 11 cities plus unincorporated East L.A. and graduated over 200 participants. L.A. County Fire Department personnel teach fire suppression, disaster preparedness and introductory CPR. Students learn fire extinguisher techniques, light search and rescue, basic medical tips and much more. I recommend that you find a class near you and #GetPrepared! MORE Never Say Nevergreen!

As you may recall I've been writing about Evergreen Cemetery, the bad neighbor in Boyle Heights. I asked constituents and concerned Angelenos to join me in my effort to get the cemetery green again. In a matter of weeks the cemetery went from three percent green to fifty percent! We compelled Evergreen management to patch up antiquated plumbing, improve spout and sprinkler systems, add soil and supplements to grounds, and agree to a regular watering schedule! Last week, my office received exiting news that the State had filed an action to remove their license! MORE
Wellness (Center) One-Stop Shop

Last Saturday, hundreds of people attended the Wellness Festival at The Wellness Center. The sun was shining, music was playing and delicious smells of healthy, organic food filled the air. The Eastside has a one-stop shop for preventive health care now that we've opened The Wellness Center at the Historic General Hospital in Boyle Heights! It's an important step for LA County's health care network as it evolves with the Affordable Care Act! MORE
19th Annual LA Dodgers Job Fair

Come one, come all to the 19th Annual L.A. Dodgers Job Fair next Saturday, March 29th. Approximately 67 employers will be looking to hire employees at the fair and 10,000 local job seekers are expected to attend. You should be one of them! Participating employers are required to have at least five job openings. MORE

La Puente Library and ArtWalk

Last November, I proudly announced $1.7 million in refurbishments to the La Puente Library, which is now open to the public in its upgraded state. The improvements are part of my "Reimagining Libraries" endeavor in which – using the East Los Angeles Library and Civic Center as a model – local libraries are thoroughly modernized, then function as natural gathering spaces for local residents. Last Saturday, the La Puente Library bloomed with creativity as the site of the First District's latest ArtWalk! MORE

Looking Back: Operation Library Rescue!

Los Angeles County weathered the Great Recession with virtually no lay-offs, furloughs, or service cuts thanks to years of responsible financial planning by the Board of Supervisors. We learned our lesson from economic downturns in the early 1990s and in 2003 when the budget ax threatened cuts to vital public services – including libraries. MORE

8 Developer wants to build a big, small-lot project in Eagle Rock

Fri Mar 21, 2014 9:51 pm (PDT) . Posted by: asncaalert

Rendering of proposed of townhome project | Urban Village Development/Eagle Rock Neighborhood Council

An Orange County developer is seeking permission to build a 45-townhome, small-lot project that would rank as one of Eagle Rock's single largest new home projects in recent years.

The development of three-story townhomes, which would be built on a nearly two-acre site next to the Eagle Rock Boulevard office of TimeWarner Cable, is more than twice as large as some of the previous small-lot projects that have been constructed in Eagle Rock. Builders can pack more homes on a property than would normally be allowed if the project meets certain guidelines under the city's small-lot subdivision ordinance, primarily by allowing homes to be built within inches of each other and reducing the amount of open space.

Urban Village Development Co. of Irvine, which is scheduled to present its plans for the project tonight before the Eagle Rock Neighborhood Council's Land Use and Planning Committee, proposes tearing down a few small residential and commercial structures to build the 45 townhomes. The project of contemporary-style development would include a small amount of commercial space in the units facing Eagle Rock Boulevard, according to plans and renderings posted on the council website. "Special attention has been made to have diversity among the facades of the dwelling units at the frontage to create a dynamic pedestrian experience as each structure possesses a unique design and material choice," according to a statement submitted by the developer.

The developer is seeking approval to build the homes without the space that the city normally requires between the homes and adjacent properties. Tonight's meeting is scheduled to be held at 7:00 pm at Eagle Rock City Hall, 2035 Colorado Boulevard.

Fri Mar 21, 2014 9:52 pm (PDT) . Posted by: asncaalert

GREETING FROM COUNCILMEMBER GIL CEDILLO

Friends,

This week was rewarding. We honored a brave Angelino that put his life in danger in order to take another person out of harm's way. We continued our P.E.A.C.E. agenda by completing additional clean-ups in the southern part of our district and moving a motion forward to expand our 'Keep It Clean' campaign to other neighborhoods. We honored the legacy of Archbishop Oscar A. Romero. We broke ground on the new LA State Historic Park and shed light on an issue in Mt. Washington. We joined the Mayor and Councilmember Huizar for a Budget 101 town hall. We leave you with a new section in our newsletter: Making the First Council District #1—a section that will highlight people and places that make our District #1.

This week we highlight a Lincoln Heights native that broke the gender barrier as LAPD's first Latina officer, Josephine Serrano Collier.

Gilbert A. Cedillo
Councilmember, District 1

LEGISLATIVE UPDATE

Honoring an Angel in Council: Jesus Delgado

On Tuesday, the LA City Council honored the man who saved a 4-year-old boy from a kidnapping attempt last month. Jesus Delgado was honored for stopping an attempted kidnapping on Feb. 26, 2014. He was working at T2 Tacos in Westchester when 4-year-old Grady O'Brien was almost kidnapped while walking home with his brother and their nanny.

The kidnapper, 33 year-old Andron Gazarov allegedly punched the nanny in the face and grabbed Grady as he ran off yelling "this is a kidnapping." Jesus Delgado and six students from nearby Westchester High jumped in to help and were able to subdue the would-be kidnapper until police arrived and arrested him.

In appreciation of Delgado's actions, the Westchester community and the public have raised more than $26,000 to thank him for his good deed. A gofundme.com page was set to take contributions for Delgado.

Councilmember Cedillo called him an 'Angel' in the City of Angels.

Keep It Clean City-Wide

On Wednesday the Public Works committee heard a report from the Bureau of Sanitation pertaining to a motion by Councilmember Cedillo to expand the 'Keep It Clean' campaign to other parts of the City.

The motion instructs the Bureau of Sanitation (BOS) in consultation with the City Administrative Officer, and Council Offices to outline a proposal for an enhanced neighborhood cleanup program throughout the City. Recently, CD1 and BOS implemented a pilot program within First Council District boundaries. With data collected from the CD1 Clean Streets pilot (over 1,000 tons of trash collected and 286 alleys cleaned), the City Council can coordinate an immediate stepped-up effort to clean neighborhoods city-wide; not only of bulky items, but other waste in streets and alleys.

The department presented three options:

Option 1:

In this option LASAN will setup three teams that will be responsible for providing cleanups Citywide. The total cost for this option is $7.1million.

Option 2:

This option offers the equivalent level of service provided in CD-1's "Keep it Clean" campaign. Under this option dedicated crews will be assigned to each council district. It's anticipated that the cost for this option will be in the range of $25 to $30 million.

Option 3:

This menu of options will allow each council office to select the level of service and use either dedicated General Fund or its discretionary funds to pay for that service.

Members of the Public Works committee recommended Option #2 (#3 as back-up) and hope the other members of council will agree that cleaning our streets should be a City priority.

Read the motion and report here.

Day of Remembrance of Archbishop Oscar A. Romero

Today the Council approved Councilmember Cedillo's resolution to proclaim March 24th, 2014 as "The Day of Remembrance of Archbishop Oscar A. Romero of El Salvador" on the occasion of the 34th Anniversary of his Martyrdom. Archbishop of San Salvador Monsignor Oscar A. Romero was the ultimate pastor of the Salvadoran people, representing the moral voice against the injustices and human rights violations that led Salvadorans to flee their country and seek refuge in the United States, thus establishing this community in major cities such as the city of Los Angeles.

March 24, 2014, is a special occasion as it will mark the 34th Anniversary of the martyrdom of Monsignor Oscar A. Romero. The City of Los Angeles joins the Salvadoran community in Los Angeles, and millions of followers in El Salvador and around the world to pay tribute to his life and teachings.

Last Saturday, Council Member Cedillo attended the Groundbreaking ceremony for the Los Angeles State Historic Park. The event was well attended by its present and former state officials, including Senator Kevin de León, Assemblymember Jimmy Gomez, and former Senator Richard Polanco and former Councilmember Ed Reyes. The Gabrielino/Tongva San Gabriel Band of Mission Indians Chief Redblood performed a beautiful blessing on the grounds to kick off the construction of the new park. The park will be under renovations until 2015. Improvements will include wetlands, a welcome center, increased pedestrian access and new restrooms to create a safer environment for attendees.

'Keep It Clean' Community Clean-Ups Continue

In February, Field Deputy Ana Gomez kicked off the community clean up and education component of our 'Keep it Clean' Campaign in the communities of Westlake, Pico Union and Temple Beaudry. Since then, Council District 1 has sponsored or co-sponsored seven community clean ups. On Saturday we had pleasure of supporting 3 simultaneous clean-ups in the neighborhoods of Westlake and Pico Union in partnership with Berendo Middle School, CARECEN and the Olympic Community Police Station. We would like to thank the following partners for their community work in organizing the past community clean ups:

- Para Los Niños
- Pico Union Neighborhood Council
- St. Thomas Church
- Marylind Foundation
- CARECEN Day Laborer Center
- Berendo Middle School
- Olympic Police Station
- Westlake South Neighborhood Council
- Temple Beaudry Community Members

Upcoming community clean ups:

- March 31st Temple Beaudry meeting location TBD
- April 5th meet at Angelina Apartments (1336 Angelina St, Los Angeles, CA 90026)

To volunteer contact Ana Gomez at Ana.Gomez@lacity.org or (323)550-1538.

Budget 101 with Mayor Garcetti

On Wednesday, Councilmember Cedillo joined Mayor Garcetti, Councilmember Huizar and hundreds of community leaders at the Puente Learning Center for a Budget 101 town hall. Participants were engaged in an open discussion about the City's budget and issues impacting our community. Small groups with facilitators were formed to discuss in detail the existing challenges facing our neighborhoods. The three leaders participated directly walking through every one of the groups and at the end they listened to a brief presentation from representatives of every group. Councilmember Cedillo thanked all participants for making the right choice to be there that night and participate in a very important process. Mayor Garcetti closed the meeting stating that we need to work together to make of the City of Los Angeles a safe, livable, prosperous and well-rounded city.

Shedding Light on Mt. Washington

Our staff in partnership with the Department of Water and Power (DWP) have once again improved the lives of our residents and community. Mr. Mark Espinoza, a resident of Mt. Washington came to our office seeking assistance with a lighting issue. The area in question near his home received no light coverage and became a hotspot for criminal activity and vandalism. With the assistance of DWP and our office, we managed to install new lighting fixtures, which shed light on the issue! Mr. Espinoza also shared concerns over road/street safety, preserving local establishments such as Antojitos Guerrero while attracting new businesses.

Glad we were able to help Mr. Espinoza. We are making the first District #1, one issue at a time!

Big Belly 50/50 Campaign

Councilman Cedillo continues to stay committed to cleaning up your streets. He invites you to help him 'Keep It Clean' by increasing the amount of trashcans available in our communities. The office is offering partnership opportunities for organizations that are interested in having a solar powered compactor placed in a designated areas in CD1.

The way we collect trash can help maintain our streets clean. The City of Los Angeles is investing funds to replace basket like trash cans. In the spirit of public engagement and community partnership, this office is offering grant opportunities to purchase additional trash cans to promote the 'Keep It Clean' Campaign in District One of Los Angeles.

Why Solar Panel Trash Receptacles?

- Provides a solution to a common problem
- Improves existing operations & enhances efficiency
- Demonstrates commitment to cleanliness/sustainability
- Enhance overall well-being of the local area
- Increased capacity of more than 150 gallons means no overflows and collections can happen less frequently

One solar trash compactor is able to hold the equivalent of 5 regular trashcans. This program symbolizes an opportunity to keep our streets clean, and contribute to the economic vitality of the area. Overflowing trash can deter foot traffic and has unintended consequences. Partnering with us can show you care about where you live, work and spend your leisure.

Technology

Each trash can is equipped with a chip that delivers real-time data to the service provider, showing when the units are full and need to be picked up.

Maintenance

The Council Office will work with your organization to find a partner to help maintain trash collection.

Messaging Opportunities

The purchase of one trash can comes with an opportunity to promote your organization on side panels. In the spirit of the 50/50 program the sponsoring organization will have access to [2] panels on a single unit and [3] panels on a double unit.

MAKING THE FIRST DISTRICT #1

LAPD's First Latina Officer

This article appeared in the Laist on March 18th, 2014.

Josephine Serrano Collier, who became the first Latina LAPD officer when she joined the force more than 60 years ago, has died at the age of 91. Collier died on Feb. 25 at her home in Arizona, according to an LAPD press release.

Collier, who grew up in Lincoln Heights, worked on building P-38 Ventura fighter planes for Lockheed before being let go in favor of returning male veterans, according to the LAPD. Against her family's wishes, she applied to become a police officer in 1946. She was one of only nine out of 200 female applicants to make it to the force.

When her all-female class graduated, they received no ceremony, didn't get diplomas and didn't get a gun, according to the Women's Peace Officer Archives. When Serrano was transferred to the Lincoln Heights jail, she wore a nurse's outfit because no uniforms for women were created at the time. She would often work the night beat around Pershing Square, where she would arrest men looking for prostitutes along with her fellow lady cops.

It was in the LAPD when she met Darwin "Jack" Collier, whom she would marry. She eventually had to retire in 1960 due to back problems, and worked in the L.A. job corps before moving with her husband to Idaho and then to Arizona, where she died on Feb. 25.

It's local heroes like Josephine that make the First Council District #1. May she rest in peace.

President's Message

There are many things one can do well in Eagle Rock. One of them is eating well. "Eating well" can of course be defined in many ways.

The big conundrum in my life is that most of what I like to eat is not what I should eat. The obesity in our country leads me to feel that I am not alone in my dietary challenges. Usually, I try to eat what I should on week days. When someone suggests we meet for lunch, I will usually suggest Four Café. It is unique in that so much of what is on the menu is what I should be eating and it is tasty too! For the first time in years, last Saturday Mike and I had a weekend gastronomical celebration; lunch at Oinkster. The pastrami sandwiches were "to die for," a phrase that may have too much truth if we celebrate there too often. The place was busy-busy, in the middle of the afternoon. We were lucky to find a table in a prime outside area. My taste buds were in ecstasy as each slice of the pastrami, sometimes with just the right amount of fat, and the carb loaded bread took a nonstop flight from my lips to my waist. For the next few weeks it will be so much harder to deny my car's urge to take a right into the Oinkster's parking lot for a repeat performance.

As I was enjoying my moments of "Pastrami Paradise" I reflected on how rich our community has become in dining options. Little Beast, which is arguably the most high-end dining establishment, and one of the newest, judging by parking, is doing very well. We dined there once and were so happy that it has been rescued from the predecessor (Larkin's), which had declined in its waning days. Sundays, after church, we often go to Camillo's. Great salads, unbeatable omelets and a tasty Cuban sandwich are some of my favorites. We also love Armon's Coffee Shop. For me they make a mean club sandwich. Mike is addicted to their chicken chow mein. Sometimes I go there during the week (diet time) for an egg white omelet - no cheese, fresh fruit, and just one slice of dry toast. How I love Mexican food and it does not get better than at LaFuente. Sadly, that is another dining experience that delights the taste buds but makes touching my toes much harder the next day. Colombo's is another one of our favorite haunts. It is the place we most reliably bump into other familiar Eagle Rockers. Their gourmet burger is the best burger in town, by-far. It is even better if preceded by a cocktail. If you are careful there, and order a steak and veggies, salad dressing on the side and one glass of wine, you can even eat healthy at Colombo's. Sadly it is a theory I have not tested often enough. The more Italian side of the menu has never disappointed me, and that usually includes garlic bread and pasta. We all know what that means. Of course, we patronize many other Eagle Rock restaurants, too many to list here.

To move us further in the direction of an "embarrassment of riches" dining-wise, is Max City BBQ which is having a grand opening on March 21 - probably just before this newsletter is sent. Pulled pork, mac & cheese and slaw will be my first meal there. Artisan cheese & wines, picnic baskets and other delicacies will soon be offered by Milkfarm on Colorado Boulevard, opening in Early April. Finally, for all the wings aficionados, and there are many, Rocking Wings will be opening on Eagle Rock Boulevard in two or three months. Of the many qualities that make our community great, an awesome selection of dining alternatives is certainly one of Eagle Rock's strong suit.

Have you been heard?

In the last newsletter I encouraged readers to become activists, to get out of the stands and onto the playing field, working for the things they believe in. Activism can take many forms. Some forms are very time consuming and others require more thought but little time.

A common feeling shared by my circle of friends is that government could work better. It's not a partisan issue; whichever party is in the driver's seat, there are numerous examples of decisions made and actions taken, all of dubious benefit to the community at large.

An excellent example of government ineptitude is found in the presence of illicit massage parlors found city-wide and especially in our community. While it is important for our councilmember to understand that we want illegal massage parlors gone, it is also important to understand where the fundamental problem lies.

In 2008, in order to minimize the presence of illicit massage parlors, California passed a law that established the California Massage Therapy Council, with a primary role of establishing professional standards and certifying legitimate massage therapists. They also had the ability to revoke certification for therapist who had violated professional standards. We all know that the 2008 law has not worked well. It has allowed the proliferation of massage parlors, many of them illicit, in Eagle Rock. Law enforcement has indicated that a major issue is that the existing law does not allow the use of zoning nor does it encourage a consistent local approach in managing the presence of massage parlors. In fact, they have characterized the existing statute as preventing the effective regulation of massage parlors. At the end of the year, unless further action is taken by the Legislature and the governor, the California Massage Therapy Council Management will no longer exist.

Here is an opportunity to be an activist that will require little time or effort. If you want the situation to change, take a few minutes, make your voice heard. Contact the governor and your representatives in the Legislature now! Express your support for a continuation of the California Massage Therapy Council Management and new laws, without loopholes, that will provide tools for effective and consistent control of massage parlors at the local level, minimizing the presence of illicit massage parlors in our community. Links for emails are provided below. With very slight change you could copy the text above (italicized). If you don't make your voice heard ...

Hoping that this letter will inspire some readers to be more active in speaking their representatives, there is a simple solution to communicating on the national level. One alternative is to monitor the upcoming votes and votes made on our behalf by our Congressional Representatives. Let them know what positions you favor, and most importantly, let them know when they support positions that you do not support. Just sign up at <http://www.congress.org/congressorg/megavote>.

Each week that Congress is in session you will receive an email that details upcoming votes as well as votes cast by Senators Boxer and Feinstein and Representative Becerra. The weekly reports will include links making it easy for you to share your thoughts with your representatives in Congress.

The oft-repeated rationale for not doing any of this is the argument that "I am only one person, what difference can I make?" The reality is that unless an organized group with a specific agenda motivates its constituency to flood a congressional office with emails, very few people make the effort to have their opinions known. The rarity of these communications distinguishes them and gives them a unique importance. There is no guarantee that our voices will make a difference. But sitting in the stands rather than getting on the playing field is a guarantee that your hopes and aspirations will not be heard; they will not make a difference.

Eagle Rock Neighborhood Council Elections - April 26

The deadline to apply to be a candidate in this year's election is now past. The slate of candidates will be known soon. To paraphrase the saying "You get what you pay for", you also "get what you vote for." On Saturday, April 26, you will have the opportunity to vote for new members of the Neighborhood Council. A few of the current members have indicated an interest in running for a second term. The experience they have gained in their first term is valuable and they should be seriously considered. There will also be many new-comers. A "Meet the Candidate" meeting will be held on Tuesday, April 22 at Eagle Rock City Hall. More details to come. This will be an opportunity for us all to become more familiar with the possible members of our 2014 - 2015 Eagle Rock Neighborhood Council and make better decisions when we vote. Any questions regarding the next election should be emailed to info@eaglerockcouncil.org.

New Community Meeting Space

Community meetings per se are an important component of connecting members of a community. What is not obvious to many is that meeting venue rental charges can be a significant part of meeting budgets. The good news is that there is a new, first class meeting space in town that is available to community associations at no charge.

Several months ago, when the owner of Colorado Terrace was submitting his plans for approval of Colorado Terrace - Phase II, he reached out to TERA for our support. It is definitely true that the size and color of the existing structure has caused many Eagle Rockers to feel that the building is very wrong for our community. However, it is equally true that the owner of the property has the right to expand the complex and build a Phase II component on the lots he already owns to the east of the current complex. TERA responded knowing that our support might be helpful but that even without our support, ultimately the new structure would be built. We asked for a few concessions that included no more orange paint, a building of a slightly smaller scale, and to make the existing community room more available to the community at no charge.

The meeting space, located at 2455 Colorado Boulevard is bright, pleasant, adjustable for various group sizes and nicely furnished. The space includes a commercial kitchen and, depending on the time of day, considerable parking. Users of the space should provide their own sound / video systems. Please be advised that the space is not to be used for commercial purposes. Groups who use the space will be expected to leave it in the condition as it was found. One community organization has already begun holding their monthly meetings at Colorado Terrace. To see the space and get further information

Take Back the Boulevard Update

Great Streets Initiative

Responding to the Mayor's initiative, TBTB sent a letter to the mayor and other city representatives, requesting that Colorado Boulevard, with a special emphasis on the segment of the Boulevard between Eagle Rock Boulevard and Sierra Villa, be considered as one of the 40 streets that will be chosen for streetscape enhancement.

The letter acknowledged the improvements made to the eastern segment of the Boulevard and suggested "It is now time to turn our attention to the segment of Colorado Boulevard west of Eagle Rock Boulevard, where there is a great unrealized potential for robust commercial growth, improved safety, and greater community identification." The major suggested changes to the Boulevard include new, landscaped medians and new crosswalks. These enhancements to the Boulevard would transform the character of the streetscape, more equitably sharing the sidewalks and the Boulevard, improving safety and enhancing the commercial appeal.

Around Town

Pillarhenge Looking Up

Finally the ugly and abandoned project that we affectionately call Pillarhenge has attracted a resident. Thanks to Keely Myers for sharing her photo of the stork that has taken up residence on top of one of the pillars. This is without question the most positive thing that has happened to this otherwise community disaster since the beginning of the project. Anyone knowing any stork relatives, that would be willing to share more about the story of the stork, please have them email me at president@tera90041.org.
